FlashJet Scan is a handy application that brings the best of light, paperless scanning. Apart from scanning, this application can process documents as well, if your scanner works with supported document format. No additional hardware or software is required to make it work. Scanning is always done by an input file. No storage is required if you don't want to save the scanned document in your computer. It is also possible to save the scanned file in the application itself. An icon for the application is located on your desktop and will be displayed as soon as the scanner is connected. There is a small menu in this window. Click on it to open the application and choose the document you would like to scan. Now just put your document in the scanning area, flip the switch and the scan will start. Both the input and output files can be sorted and organized. In the result section, you can choose which categories to use for subsequent job management. Besides viewing the document, it is also possible to print, add your own text or a picture, and create digital pages. You have to specify the picture format, whether the scanned image will be output as a PDF, JPEG or PNG file. With the "Auto run" option, scanning will be carried out automatically when the scanner is disconnected. You can scan any size file, but the maximum size is limited to 5000 KB. If the scan fails, a detailed error log is displayed. The application can be downloaded and installed to your computer free of charge.
