This application provides users a means to convert text to Morse code. What makes this app different from other Morse code converting tools is that it supports use of any special characters, such as the hyphen and full stop. What it also allows users to do is specify the amount of time for the characters to flash. The interface is very easy to use. Users simply select the destination text file and enter the text to be converted. The application will produce the Morse code corresponding to the text. Once this conversion is complete, the application will save the generated Morse code to the selected file. Interface The application has an extremely simple interface. The main program window consists of three tabs. The first tab is the source text file of the text to be converted. This is where users can enter the text which will then be converted. The second tab is the destination text file, where the resulting Morse code will be saved. Lastly, there is a preview window that users can use to view the generated Morse code. Users will be able to specify how long the characters flash. The visual method is the standard method that is used in most programs, and the default setting for this type of application. This option uses a flash of the Morse code character to indicate its position in the text. The application also allows users to specify the amount of time that each character is displayed. This is done through a slider which allows the user to increase or decrease the amount of time for each character to flash. The application allows the user to set each character to flash for a certain amount of time, and the amount of time for the different characters to flash can be specified individually. Audio The audio method is more detailed than the visual method. This method uses the default settings.
