All reviews posted on the site are subject to approval before they are displayed to users. When do you stop supporting software and make the application removed from the download? The answer from the creators is "we don't". Software has to be updated to be made secure, so that users can use it on the latest standard. This usually means a replacement or update to the application to make it safer to use. Often, the replacement is free. Windows 10 is no longer being updated, so the tool won't work on it. If you want to keep your Windows 10 hardware up to date, you should consider installing a new Windows operating system as it is much better than Windows 10. If you already have Windows 10, then one of these links will take you to a website where you can download the previous version of Windows so you can keep your software current. Unable to reproduce the issue, please help us reproduce the issue by filling out the table below. Revision Steps to reproduce the issue Actual results observed Expected results What version of Windows are you running? What version of TechSmith Capture are you using? How often are you logging in to Screencast.com? What is the Screencast.com login page URL? Do you see the message that TechSmith Capture is being retired? From the same browser/platform, do you see the TechSmith Capture download page? From the same browser/platform, can you enter any username and password? (Might need to verify you are a TechSmith account holder) Any other errors in addition to the TechSmith Capture being retired message? The problem would be that the function that TechSmith Capture uses to share the screenshot as a Screencast doesn't work. If it works
