descriptions and customer reviews of products. Relatively late appearance of the zebrafish sonic hedgehog gene in the developing brain. The members of the hedgehog family of secreted proteins have recently been shown to play key roles in the patterning of the mouse and chick neural tube and in the dorsal-ventral patterning of the limb and eye. Mutations of the Sonic hedgehog (SHH) gene in humans give rise to a variety of craniofacial, spinal and urogenital anomalies. The expression patterns of zebrafish Shh and its receptor Ptch (SHH receptor) in the developing nervous system are described here. Shh is first expressed at 26 h postfertilisation in a set of ventral cells of the spinal cord.

At 36 h the Shh expression domain spreads further rostrally and extends throughout the spinal cord and hindbrain. The Shh-expressing cells appear to represent ventral populations of motor neurons. At later stages, Shh is expressed in the tectum and tegmentum. Expression is also found in the hindbrain and rhombomeres. Shh and Ptch are co-expressed in many Shh-expressing cells. Democrats aim to raise alarm on Obama jobs

President Barack Obama's administration and congressional Democrats are threatening to politicize and exaggerate the economy — and threaten global recovery — to protect their jobs. The administration has declared an emergency in the labor market, and Republican lawmakers have received national attention for their claims of mass layoffs in Michigan, Ohio and elsewhere. The White House's job estimates have been questioned by independent reports, but Democrats insist they are correct. Story Continued Below Democrats say job losses are real and a significant reason for the national jobless rate, which reached 9.1 percent in January, hitting a 24-year high.

“The president is being more vocal than he would have been two years ago,” said Rep. Steve Cohen (D-Tenn.). “He should be because he has a unique opportunity to help middle-class Americans.” “I think the president can back up his campaign rhetoric,” said Sen. Sher
