Chimera: Rise of the StarCrawlers is a turn-based strategy RPG made by a small team. Our goal was to make a high-quality game with deep gameplay that contains content to be experienced over many hours, and is addictive enough to keep a player engaged, but still playable on the PC market. The game's development takes place in a small group of people who hope to make good games and share them with other people. If you'd like to help us at this project, you can donate: patreon.com/Chimera Or you can donate without the link: PayPal: watch.patreon.com/Chimera One of the best turn based tactical RPG games on PC. Reach the top of the Chimera's military organisation. StarCrawlers: Chimera - Rise of the StarCrawlers is a turn-based, fantasy RPG developed by a small team of designers with a single vision. Play as a budding, yet talented, fighter, equipped with some handy skills and suitable gear to face a mission as dangerous as it is captivating. The game takes place in a procedurally-generated environment, which gives the game more depth and replayability than other similar titles. We hope to make a game that meets the needs and expectations of our fans. The world of Chrono Trigger sees a series of time changes. Cinemoji: Series Free PC/Windows (Final 2022)

A cursed psychological facility intended to cure all mental disorders by replacing all the patients' personalities with a different one. Now a university's teaching experiment. As with many dream scenarios, the difference between good and bad is so stark that it's hard not to regard it as a horror story. A huge OOB that brings a lot to the table but that ultimately makes the rules in there need to be more streamlined. Sleepless - A covert organization responsible for the disappearance and deaths of many children in a large area. It has ties to several and can do whatever it wants in an area, assuming that the victims don't get in the way. Death Metal - A group of young kids at an orphanage that are all recruited by a secret society to hunt down a specific spirit. They could fight it themselves, but they want to save some kids instead. Dysentery - A man who protects, trains, and lends weapons to a group of kids who are all on the run from someone who wants to kidnap and use them. He specializes in low-level martial arts and close combat, and he's desperate to protect his proteges. Jestros - Traveling entertainers, they are responsible for the disappearance of children all over the world and recruit people to find them. They call themselves "children of our own bodies," but that's only when they're fronting a performance. If they are interrupted, then they tend to kill in cold blood. The characters can help them find the children that they have claimed as their own and rescue them, if they wish to. Let's Play - A group of players try to leave a VR game to check on a friend who has "succumbed to dementia." The VR can be shut down by them but in doing so, they find themselves in a nightmarish reality. The Enclave - A group of technocrats dedicated to saving humanity, they realized that the only way to reach the future is to take over and change the past. They discovered the time-stream accidentally during an experiment, and they've been planning to control it ever since. Cured of Mind-Munitions - There are two factions in the game world: medical establishment that cures a lot of "diseases" by erasing personalities and the people who can escape their world and explore it. Then there's a new player character who can disrupt these healers. Will they continue as they were, and be the future of civilization or will they
