Laser Rage is a simple, retro-style shoot-'em-up inspired by games of the 1970's and 1980's. Aliens, robots, and an army of mutant saboteurs are on the attack, can you protect the Earth from extinction? There are nine powerups (laser gun, plasma sword, health unit, shield, invincibility unit, powerup-replenishing energy unit, missile unit, defenseless unit, and escape pod) and three difficulty levels. Would you like to be able to find the last remaining copies of Raptor and B.O.M.B. easily? Would you like your game to show new faces? Would you rather build a RTS in the Unity engine, where everyone can see what you're doing? If so, Laser Rage is for you! In a post-apocalyptic America, you are a resident of a small town ruled by a military-industrial complex. The FBI claims that drug cartels from the contaminated wastelands are using the magic of the nanotech to build an army of superhuman zombie minions, to use as cannon fodder against the living survivors. You, however, do not believe in the FBI, or the nanotech zombies. You are a scientist - a mere citizen of this new world who has proved himself capable of delivering without regard to life and limb, clean water, shelter, or even language. You alone are the only solution. You will become more than just a solution: you will become a weapon. You will become the Red Baron. You will meet your friends the Zombified: they are cannibals and of the finest quality, fresh from the towns of the dead. Only your training will stand between you and certain annihilation... and the party has just begun. Lone Survivor is a hardcore first-person shooter with an inventory management system. Control your character, use ammo, grenades, and weapons as you please. But be careful with the inventory system. Maintain your inventory to make sure you have what you need to survive. Fight off waves of increasingly powerful and lethal enemies. Make sure to trade (wrench) for ammo and drugs to heal yourself when you get shot. World is persistent and you can even die a lot. Survive long enough to build a good inventory and trade to make sure you have the items you need. There are 1.5 hours of new content waiting for you. Play the Single Player campaign. Survive with as little health

What's new:

C1 does not have a permanent subsurface structure, but several temporary corridors were constructed during the big winter storm of 1989-90. The following is information gathered by archaeology student Jessica Robinson relating to the possibly late 1990s or early 2000s temporary access roads present (primarily) in December 1989, and in early January 1990: "The area on 15.28.90 was under a massive snow storm and a couple hours from the house so it was removed and put on a temporary site. This foot path was a pretty good distance up the north trail and cut an area of the hillside that was rather large."package magic.model.action; import magic.model.MagicCard; import magic.model.MagicPermanent; import magic.model.action.ctrl.MagicActivationControl; import magic.model.action.controller.MagicActivationHandlingActionController; import magic.model.action.control.MagicActivationFlag; import magic.model.action.generator.MagicActivationFlagList; import magic.model.event.MagicActivationEvent; / * Creates a new Time Walk activation card, or gives some other activation card more energy, according to the * activation cost. * * @author X]Z Shadowmoon */ public class MagicActivationCardAction extends MagicActivationHandlerAction { protected MagicCard getMagic(); public MagicActivationCardAction(final MagicCard magic, final MagicCard source) { super(magic, source); } public MagicActivationCardAction(final MagicActivationEvent event) { super(event); } @Override public MagicEvent executeEvent() { MagicCard source = getSource(); String cost = getCost().getCostString(); MagicCard newCard = new EnergyTransferCard(getSource(), getCost(), cost); event.triggerFinishEvent(); MagicActivationCardCondition condition = getCondition();
