See Booker, 125 S. Ct. at 755 (Stevens, J., for the court) ("we have every reason to believe that the various legal paradigms that have been suggested for Apprendi's application will continue to be explored by the lower courts, as new factual situations arise and this Court has the benefit of further instruction from the parties"). Therefore, to this extent, our reasoning would be unsound. See Johnson, 403 F.3d at 850, 855 (concluding that, notwithstanding the recent decisions in Blakely, Booker, and Apprendi, and in recognition of the theory of the courts to continue to examine these cases for their continuing vitality and applicability, our case "must be governed by this circuit's existing body of law as we continue to apply the rule of Apprendi") (quotation omitted). 7 Although not a model of clarity, the evidence certainly supports the
