It is said to be the largest Masonic building in Missouri. Built in 1853 at 75 N Main St, it was renamed while it was still being constructed. The public dedication of the building occurred on December 13, 1853, which was then dedicated to the memory of all of those who held religious persecution under the Missouri Compromise. Until then, no public buildings had been erected in that area. The building was constructed as a Masonic lodge for the expansion of the city and to serve as a meeting place for the abolitionist movement. It boasts a clock tower which oscillates to the bells of the city's Second Baptist Church. It is most notably noteworthy that it was destroyed by fire in 1919. On September 23, 1986, it was added to the National Register of Historic Places. Q: how to get length of an array in vb.net I have a form which has two textboxes and a button to load values from the two textboxes and store them in an array. Say A and B are the textboxes and txtarray is the array. I use the below code to fill the array: txtarray(txtarray.length) = CStr(txtA.text) txtarray(txtarray.length) = CStr(txtB.text) This code then lets me read all the values of the textboxes into the array, however when i use the.length it only shows 1 in a messagebox (So only one value is being saved to the array) so how can i use the length to fill in all the values in the array? A: You can't, nor will it do what you expect. A string[] is a "zero-based" array, so the indexes in a string[] are 0, 1, 2,... If you have two text boxes and two buttons and want to have: Dim txtA(4) As String txtA(0) = "Hello" txtA(1) = "World" txtA(2) = "How" txtA(3) = "are" txtA(4) = "you?" Dim txtB(4) As String txtB(0) = "Good" txtB(1) = "Day" txtB(2) = "So" txtB(3) = "You" txtB(4) = "too?" And a button to "add" a new string to the array: Using form As Form = TryCast(Application.OpenForms(0), Form) If form.Controls.Count > 0 Then If form.Controls(0).Tag = "Add New" Then Dim newString As String = txtB(2) + txtB(1) + txtB(0) txtarray(txtarray.Length) = newString End If End If End Using Then if
