A: I tried it and looked through the debug statement and saw an error in lastDB: ERROR: TypeError: Cannot call property 'hash' of undefined at (eq):261 I looked through the 'eq' statements, they seemed to be correct. After that, I looked for the line 261 and found it at line 144, which is the following: lastDB['description'] = description; So to fix it, I changed it to: lastDB.description = description; I changed lastDB['description'] to lastDB.description because, as you can see, every object has a property 'description' that is an array, even if the object is a single object, you still have an array, and the changes are only done with this array. Upregulation of apolipoprotein A-I gene expression by insulin and glucagon in cultured rat hepatocytes. Previous in vivo studies have demonstrated that insulin and glucagon promote hepatic apolipoprotein A-I (apo A-I) synthesis and secretion. In the present study, the insulin- and glucagon-inducible apo A-I gene expression was studied in cultured rat hepatocytes. Treatment of hepatocytes with insulin or glucagon at the concentration of  $10^{-6}$  M for 24 hours enhanced apo A-I mRNA levels by 16- and 4.5-fold, respectively. In contrast, insulin and glucagon did not increase apo A-I mRNA stability or apo A-I mRNA half-life. The insulin- and glucagon-mediated apo A-I gene expression was accompanied by increased in vitro apo A-I synthesis and secretion. These findings suggest that insulin and glucagon stimulate hepatic apo A-I synthesis and secretion by increasing apo A-I gene expression.
