Using representative data, we showed that the simulator satisfied the first two objectives. However, it failed to do so for the third goal. We conclude that a security simulator appears promising as a security training tool. The subway tunnels in Manhattan on the IRT Broadway-Seventh Avenue Line, IRT Lexington Avenue Line and IRT White Plains Road Line do not need to be drilled to an unprecedented depth and are of the same size as the subways in other cities. In the IRT Flushing Line and IRT Morris Park Line, however, the tunnels are much deeper than in other cities because of a large, one-level depot underneath Grand Street in Flushing, Queens, that is unusually deep for Manhattan's subways. The NYCDOT chose to drill the tunnels under only 25th Street to a minimum of. d0c515b9f4

The simulator is designed to. More of Dao High School's 14 police officers are expected to be reassigned due to budget cuts. (Facebook/Dao Police Department) DØA, Iowa — Eight of the nine officers working at DØA High School are expected to be reassigned due to budgetary cuts, Principal Joe Kiehl said in a letter published on the district's website on Wednesday. One officer will be

"temporarily reassigned" to work at the school until budget cuts can be made, Kiehl said. Kiehl said the school has been forced to reduce its budget to the point that "enforcement has been very difficult," and has been struggling to "buy good equipment or maintain current equipment." "We have had to place a focus on our safety plan as a top priority," Kiehl said in the letter. "Our goal is to provide a safe and secure environment that does not include random checkpoints, searchlights, or inhumane sweeps." DØA superintendent Mike Krumrie said in an email on Wednesday that the reassignment of officers was the only option for the district to balance its budget. The DØA Police Department responded to more than one-fourth of the calls the city of DØA received last year, according to the 2017 county jail statistics. Krumrie said the city of DØA will be able to stay within its budget by shifting money from its general fund to its police department. "It's not right for us to spend money we don't have," Krumrie said. Krumrie said the DØA Police Department will be having more officers available to the public to keep up with the number of calls it receives. "We will have a lot of extra officers on patrol," Krumrie said. The DØA Police Department has over 30 officers and is contracted to monitor the high school, DØA Middle School and some other buildings. The police department has responded to a number of "security-related incidents" that have taken place at DØA, Krumrie said in his email. "We work with the district and administration to identify threats, and take immediate action when required," he said. The students at DØA High School have been notified of the changes. "The student is concerned,"
