Team Objective Arena Racer is a futuristic vehicle racer where you pilot a hovercraft across the desert to scavenge valuable scrap and compete against opponents from across the world. The unique "strategic escalation" focused game mode plays out like a battle of attrition, with recycling weapons and scrap. Do you focus on demolishing the enemy vehicles as quickly as possible, or use them to send other enemies flying into the scrap they left behind? Earn points the old-fashioned way, or capture flags by destroying them instead. Don't get too comfortable though, as it's possible to snatch victory from the jaws of a crushing defeat. From the creators of Aggro Inc.: Team Objective Arena Racer is a futuristic vehicle racer where you pilot a hovercraft across the desert to scavenge valuable scrap and compete against opponents from across the world. The unique "strategic escalation" focused game mode plays out like a battle of attrition, with recycling weapons and scrap. Do you focus on demolishing the enemy vehicles as quickly as possible, or use them to send other enemies flying into the scrap they left behind? Earn points the old-fashioned way, or capture flags by destroying them instead. Don't get too comfortable though, as it's possible to snatch victory from the jaws of a crushing defeat. Key features: Team Objective multiplayer Unique'strategic escalation' focused game-mode Physically simulated hovercraft Beautiful environments and vehicles Intelligent AI Opponents (optional) Powered by Unreal Engine 4 In Team Objective Arena Racer, teams scavenge valuable scrap from the level, and the team with the most at the end of a match wins. Scrap can be found scattered about the environment - left by the miners who've long vacated the land. Their old silos are also still full of the stuff, so tear them apart with your weaponry and make it rain. Scrap is carried on the hull of your hovercraft where it absorbs damage, functioning like armour, but it's also heavy so the more you have the slower your vehicle will get. Choose to bulk up and tank damage or run rings around your foes. Drop scrap off at your teams base to unlock Utilities and new Vehicles, equipable in the upgrade garage. Careful though, re-spawning costs your team some scrap, and if left unchecked you can find yourselves set back significantly if you feed the enemy too much. If you do fall behind, you can always make a run on the enemy scrap reserves, clawing your way back into the lead. c9d1549cdd

Eternal Step is about escaping the game. Most things you will do is to make sure not to fall. The main gimmick is that you can move only in the direction you are facing, which also means that you can't roll on your back to get on a level. Everything comes down to your ability to not fall. When you die, you get sucked back into the game screen to start over at the first level. After each death, your score and last score will go up, a little as well, so you get a bit of a lead over your last try.7/10 The Refresher Eternal Step adds a few things to the mix. For one, in order to not fall to the ground, you can use the right stick to jump. You can jump diagonally as well, and when you do, you move directly in the direction you jumped. It's easy to see where the right stick is, and the diagonal jump is easy to go for. Some levels also have ramps, similar to the slopes in Super Mario World, which you can't jump on. Another cool addition is the rocket. This is used to jump long distances. It allows you to use all of the levels for a little break from stepping. As far as the rocket is concerned, you can jump directly on the pad, in the direction you are facing, or you can jump, and when you release, the rocket will propel you in the direction you are facing. However, the rocket will only go in one direction, and it can move slow or fast. The slow version is handy, but you can catch it on a wall and put it into a dive, which is a great way to get some points for a fall. The fast version is great, but just hoping that it will reach you before your fall is a huge risk. Use the rocket wisely, but it can help a lot. Finally, the game has a ranking system. Your rank is based on your last five scores, which get larger as you get higher, although each rank is only as high as the highest score you have beaten. To complete one floor, all you need to do is make it to the end without dying. You are given three lives, and you start off with a score of five, although any level can be accomplished with as few as two lives. The game starts you out with level 1.2, which is also the first one that you get three lives on. After completing the first level, you are given two

An actual war. Rebellion is taking place. You are in a squad that knows no quarter, has no fear of death, and will strike at the enemy until your very last breath. Outnumber them, outfight them, and crush them. In this third person action game, you control a Spartan ghost from the 28th century, collecting relics to change history, and freeing the past from the clutches of the future. I am a resident of Coquitlam, BC and have been gaming since I was a wee lad. I started with War Simulation games like the Airgame series and Ground Combat games like the Combat Mission series. Then RPGs and Action/Adventure games like Doom and Thief. Eventually that lead me to Modern/Multiplayer like Battlefield 1942/1943/1944 and Fortnite. Since then I have continued to play every new PC, Console, Mobile, and Web game that has come out. So today I am a console player to the bone. With games like Overwatch, Fortnite, and countless others. Lately however I have been playing a lot of Mobile/Web games, like Seven Days Out, Attack of the Y-Chromosome, Warhood, and Multiplayer Online Battle Arena games such as MOBAs like League of Legends and Teamfight Tactics. I can play a good amount of them, and I enjoy playing them. Yet one genre that I just can't seem to get into is First Person Shooters. I have a love for Third Person Shooters like Titanfall and Battlefield, but when it comes to FPS they just seem to drain me. I am honestly not sure why, I just can't play them! I remember when I first played a title like The Division, but I just couldn't get past the clunky controls and unresponsive gunplay. I am a very picky gamer, and with that I would never suggest someone else buy something that just doesn't work for them. Whether you are a seasoned veteran, or a new player, I hope that you are able to find something in this community that you can enjoy and explore. Whether it be a game, an idea, a YouTube channel, or a Twitter handle, we can all benefit from each other!
