Tag: dog A pet shop normally has a great deal of breeds and they range from tiny to large. A lot of breeds are available but there are some that are unique to shops or that are very uncommon. Here are some of the most interesting breeds in the pet shop. Hippopotamus: Hippos are from the African savanna. They are the largest of all land mammals, having a total body length of six metres. They are large, muscular and fast moving mammals with short rounded noses, black leathery skin, four stubby legs and large beady eyes. There are three different kinds of Hippo: the short-faced Hippopotamus, the tall-maned Hippopotamus, and the aardvark-like, long-maned Hippopotamus. Bulldog: Bulldogs are spayed or neutered. They are originally from the Roman Empire. Bulldogs were bred to guard the cattle from theft, and it was believed that the owner would enjoy protection and safety of his cattle. There is a myth that says that the breed originated from an unattractive dog that a farmer used as a love-bait, and that is how the breed came to be. Badger: Badgers are not usually found in the United States, although there are some wild badgers that live in the USA. The badgers are a large short-legged animal that lives in tunnels in the ground. They have long, powerful jaws and they eat worms and grubs. Their teeth are large and can grow continually throughout their lives. Pomer 6d1f23a050
