The trip will feature a series of clinics providing insights on how to bring your idea to market, and there's a heavy emphasis on business strategy and game design. You'll even have the chance to see what occurs when a light ray hits an object and takes a second to hit the ground. The package includes a Qwikster, a pair of redheads, and an Awesomenauts gold medalist (which you can obviously keep if you win it). If you miss out, there are still other good prizes to be had, including a Riot Games hat. The contest will run through April 14th, 2012, with the winners being announced on April 17th. Structural basis for higher affinity and improved selectivity of the class A beta-lactamase/beta-lactamase inhibitor combination using docking and molecular dynamics. Beta-lactamases, which are the basis of resistance to beta-lactam antibiotics, are members of the serine family of enzymes that catalyze the hydrolysis of beta-lactam antibiotics. In this study, we computationally analyzed the structure of the N212S class A beta-lactamase mutant and the structure of binary complex with inhibitor, clavulanic acid. We found that the enzyme active site is shielded by R91 and N211, and the inhibitor binds to a surface where these two residues are absent. To elucidate the molecular determinants underlying the observed improved selectivity, we examined the binary complex in molecular dynamics simulations. We found that the hydrophilic interactions are mainly derived from R91. This analysis is supported by single- 6d1f23a050
