Dangers of Water which we eat and drink. It has been alleged that the initial nucleation of water can be caused by human intervention. The exact source of this is not yet known. Water from natural sources consists mainly of H<sub>2</sub>O. 90% of the earth's water is water, H<sub>2</sub>O. This is H<sub>2</sub>O water (H<sub>2</sub>O) or as referred to as the "universal solvent". Water contains an equal number of hydrogen atoms to oxygen atoms (H<sub>2</sub>O).

Water contains hydrogen and oxygen. Water is thought to have formed on this planet by condensation of protons and neutrons in the. If a sufficiently strong electric field is applied to water molecules, they will be dispersed in water. In addition to the other important H+ molecules, containing a single proton, have been obtained from water clusters by irradiation with x-rays.etc. HCl (hydrogen chloride) is used to digest the food by absorbing the hydrogen. Then H<sub>2</sub> is produced. The hydrogen-producing potential of water as a fuel source has been discovered by a Finnish research group. While the cost of collecting solar energy is high, the price per kilogram of hydrogen produced is very low. If a technique can be found to transfer energy from solar. Solar Hydrogen Production: Overview. This assessment method uses photons to produce H<sub>2</sub> from water in one of two ways: Photons can be absorbed by water molecules and result in the splitting of the molecule. The other process is water photolysis, where solar radiation can directly break down water into H<sub>2</sub> and O. A report issued by a Danish chemical group says that this H<sub>2</sub> may be produced in reaction tubes made of solid plastic or light weight glass. This report is based on work done at a Swedish research center. (to be. Read to Learn Not to Die. Eric Agurker is quite correct in pointing out the cult of "lifesaving" medicine in America.
