However, as far as I can ascertain, the L-19 Bird Dog model is a relatively accurate representation of the Cessna L-19A, with the differences merely ensuring that the cockpit is accessible for inspection. The fuselage is at the maximum weight of 14,500 lb, with the wings at a gross weight of 15,200 lb. The L-19A-144 was the first version, the L-19A-141 the following version, the L-19A-142 the next, the L-19A-143 the final version. The Cessna 281 will provide a good working basis, as will the Cessna 252.

They are generally slow-growing, although there are exceptions; some species exhibit relatively fast growth. Although some species are not really sturgeons, and are more closely related to bony fishes, they are included here, as their ecology, appearance, and especially their anatomy make them different enough to warrant a special suborder. The Cantharidus suborder contains the sturgeon family Acipenseridae, which contains the sturgeon genera Acipenser and Huso. 5ec8ef588b
