You must send the XPI file to the server and tell the server to give it an XPI manifest file. No temporary files are needed on the server. The only thing that you need is an internet connection to download the XPI file. Do not send any other files to the server. Great news XPI users! We are pleased to announce that our Java Runtime for XPI is now available on our downloads page. We've come a long way since the initial release in February 2015, and we hope you enjoy using XPI. The XPI Inspector tool was developed by SAP for collecting information about the configuration and traces and to improve the troubleshooting of PI issues. The SAP note 1514898 - XPI Inspector for troubleshooting XI contains information about the tool and the link to download it. The XPI Developer team is happy to announce that the Java Runtime is now available on our downloads page. We've come a long way since the initial release in February 2015, and we hope you enjoy using XPI. This tool is very useful when we are building custom tracing servers or when we are building a custom tracing server for frameworks like JMS. This tool has been created by a fellow chap named <https://git.nuxeo.org/nuxeo/nuxeo/tree/tool/incl/xpi/src/nuxeo-domino/src/main/java/org/nuxeo/xipki/tools/nuxeo-xpi-inspector/nuxeo-xpi-inspector/trace/NuxeoTracer.java> and is maintained by <https://git.nuxeo.org>. You will need administrators credentials to access the XPI Inspector. Select the example to use. SAP shall inform you in advance which example you need. Follow all the instructions displayed on the screen.
