The four humans are not the only living beings ever to feel the power of the Lost Memories' influence. An ancient dragon used the Lost Memories to build a barrier to defend itself from the attack of spirits. However, the barrier eventually crumbled away. It is also possible that the Lost Memories had something to do with the creation of Hyrule Castle. The first thing that Link does after waking up from his repressed memories in the Temple of Time is to finish the Grandmaster's challenge: Restore the power of the Triforce to the sword. This will mark the Link's victory over Hyrule Castle, and it was the climax of a long quest. The three clues to Hyrule Castle are a green-bladed sword, the Triforce, and the Shrine of Resurrection. The sword, usually a relic of an ancient Kingdom, protects Hyrule Castle. The Triforce is a realm's symbol, and the Rosalina Tablet is a relic of a long-dead Kingdom. While viewing Princess Zelda's memories in the Sheikah Slate, Link learns that for centuries, she has been locked away in a well. He then decides to locate this well and save her. However, upon entering the well, Link finds himself forgetting that he has any memories whatsoever. Link then uses the triforce emblem on his coat to gain his memory back and restore his power to his sword. if you choose to learn the history of the tipa caravanners, you'll be given a choice between two books. choose the book that goes with the tipa caravanner's good memories, and you'll have to talk to the tipa caravanner to get the good memories. after receiving the good memories, you'll get a book with the history of the tipa caravanners. then talk to the tipa caravanner again and choose to learn his bad memories. you'll get a book with the history of the tipa caravanners.
