KeyMacro is a free and powerful macro tool designed to help you make your life easier. This is especially useful for frequent Twitter users who are looking for more ways to improve their productivity while interacting with the network. KeyMacro allows you to apply mouse macros to any open applications. You can run one or more macros in a row. Once the macro has been successfully run, a key will be placed in the title bar, which can be customized to your liking. KeyMacro can also remember your macros (after auto-close). You can choose to run them once and then never again. Or, you can put them on your shortcut menu. You can also choose what application to put the key in. You can create any title bar you like. With KeyMacro, you do not need to stop working and start the application you want to automate, and you can forget about extra clicks. FEATURES [] one-click to set up a macro [] remember macros and set them to auto-close [] import, export, and manage macros with Excel file [] copy and paste macros [] change key position and customization [] add one-click shortcut to macro and trigger [] import macros from Excel file [] export macros from file, folder or web URL [] export file, folder or URL [] import file, folder or URL [] import file, folder or URL [] export file, folder
