Cryptocurrencies are popular because they provide anonymity and decentralization. Some cryptocurrencies can also be mined, which requires significant computing power. Bitcoin has evolved into a mature, well-developed cryptocurrency. Bitcoin is secure and decentralized thanks to cryptography. Miners contribute to securing the network through proof-of-work consensus protocol. Some people refer to Bitcoin as a peer-to-peer currency. Many other cryptocurrencies are based on the design of Bitcoin. In a lot of ways, Bitcoin is like a better form of fiat currency, since it is decentralized and more transparent. Bitcoin is also much easier to use, since the underlying blockchain technology helps the user transfer funds between other parties. Bitcoin is free to use and is a fairly stable
