This application was reviewed by the team at ForkJoin on 2015-03-14 We're not saying that hard work on the field and in the classroom will earn you a spot on a baseball team. But it's a good idea to show your team how much you care about getting the team to the playoffs, even if it means making a few sacrifices on the field. So if your team is in the thick of the race, what's the one thing you're willing to sacrifice for the team? With the Kansas City Royals leading the American League Central and the Los Angeles Dodgers leading the National League West, we decided to ask 10 Royals and 10 Dodgers the same question: What would you be willing to give up to win the World Series? And if your team isn't in the hunt, don't be discouraged. What would you give up to be a part of a great team? Let us know in the comments below! (h/t: Fox Sports and FanSided)Extradural hematoma of the temporal bone. Eleven cases of extradural hematoma of the temporal bone are presented. In all cases, the lesions arose from the middle ear and were related to a direct trauma of the middle ear. The surgical approach in these cases has been a transmeatal drainage of the middle ear through the inferior meatus. Of the patients who underwent surgery, nine have recovered from their postoperative deficits, and two of them were given a second operation. The surgical results are encouraging.Q: Set pin from ENABLE condition I have a 4 pin LDO regulator and I am using the PWM pin as an enable pin as well as a low voltage enable.
